

Abstract of the Disclosure:

In a method of manufacturing a semiconductor device, with respect to a stacked film including a silicon included organic film and a silicon non-included organic film, the silicon non-included organic film is etched by using the etching gas of mixed N₂ gas and H₂ gas.